AXE MURDERER SOUGHT BY POLICE

SCHOOL PUPILS FIND TEACHER DYING IN SHED

Had Been Struck in Head and Bloody Axe Was Found Nearby—Former
Suitor, Seen on Grounds,
Suspected.

(By The Associated Press)
CONKLIN, Mich., Oct. 18.—The police who last night guarded this vicinity, continued today the search for Egbert Dyke, wanted in connection with the fatal attack on Miss Molly Fleming, 23-year-old school teacher.

Miss Fleming, a teacher at the Big Springs school, one mile southeast of here, was found by pupils in a shed at the rear of the school shortly after the children had been dismissed.

The young woman, with a large gash cut in her head, was unconscious when found, and died several hours later. A bloody axe was found near her. Children attending the school said that Dyke, a reputed former suitor, had been seen on the school grounds when school was dismissed. Late last night his automobile was found abandoned in a cemetery near Marne. The local officials believe Dyke had killed himself.

MAN AND WIFE ARE IN HOSPITAL AFTER SHOOTING

Husband Blames Shooting
Upon Woman, Who Is Expected to Die

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 18.—Milton Blackmon, 25, and his young wife, Mamie, 23, are in a local hospital as the result of a shooting affray here tonight. The young woman had regained consciousness at a late hour and physicians said that the bullet wounds from which she is suffering probably would prove fatal. Her husband, though wounded, is not in a serious condition and is expected to recover.

Police said tonight that they rescued Blackmon from Shields lake when he apparently tried to drown himself following the shooting. When the couple were taken to the hospital, officers said, he was coming "murder" and calling for help although he told them he "wanted to die."

Officials say that Blackmon placed the blame for the shooting upon his wife. Physicians who attended the woman, however, reported that one bullet entered her back and declared their belief that it could not have been self-inflicted.

Several friends of the couple were questioned by the authorities tonight, but no one was detained and up to a late hour tonight no arrests in connection with the case had been made.

P. H. BOISSEAU WITH 53
YEARS OF CITY SERVICE
ENJOYS AN ANNIVERSARY

Public attention recently focussed on the unusual record of Mayor Harry Woodson upon his relinquishment of the post of police justice was today transferred to another instance of fidelity in public service and to the exceptional record of Patrick H. Boisseau, who for fifty-three successive years has been associated with the office of city sergeant.

Mr. Boisseau yesterday celebrated his 53rd anniversary, spending the evening quietly at home with his devoted helpmate and checking off another milestone in his well preserved health and unusual vitality and vigor.

In addition to laurels as holder of long distance records in city service, Mr. Boisseau also has the distinction of having walked more miles in Danville than any other resident. This by virtue of the duties of his office which for years have entailed the task of serving processes on witnesses and jurors. To this healthful occupation out of doors, with a carefully studied regimen he has put the years behind him without visible physical change.

Referring to his enjoyment of good health this morning he said that regular diet, early rising and early retiring together with his daily quota of miles walked on foot were primarily responsible.

Mr. Boisseau became deputy city sergeant on March 1st, 1871. His brother W. E. Boisseau was then city sergeant in which capacity he served for seventeen years. Then his brother died of pneumonia and Mr. Boisseau was elected in his stead having been successfully elected by the people of Danville since that time.

He has served the city of Danville for more than half a century. He was elected in 1871 the first succeeding mayor being W. P. Graves, Dr. E. V. Barksdale, S. E. Luck, H. John and Captain Harry Woodson. He has seen three full terms since assuming office, the first being a crude affair on Wall Street after which a jail was reared in the rear of the court house, this also being the first institution erected in the city.

His career as sergeant has been full of exciting episodes, especially during the early part of his career. Three times he has been called upon to face hostile gatherings bent on attacking the jail to secure negro prisoners. He succeeded, the first time when he was twenty-five years of age, and when 250 people gathered on Patton Street calling for vengeance and bent on action. On that occasion Mr. Boisseau armed himself with a buckshot and placed them in jail rooms commanding the alley of approach and ordered them to shoot to kill if the crowd advanced. Mr. Boisseau, as the critical moment arrived, cried out to the mob, "Back!" and the crowd dispersed. He intended to do his sworn duties and that if any concerted advance was made his men would fire. The sergeant's attitude resulted in the dispersal of the mob. On a late occasion Mr. Boisseau stood on the courthouse lawn and exhorted the mob.

YORKTOWN CELEBRATING 143RD ANNIVERSARY OF CORNWALLIS' SURRENDER

(By The Associated Press)
YORKTOWN, Va., Oct. 18.—Fifteen years ago today the British evacuated Yorktown where the Revolutionary war ended and Lord Cornwallis surrenders his sword to Gen. Washington. Today celebrated the real birthday of the nation.

Thousands who had come to the little town by the waters of the York River, marched through its streets. Little changed since that fateful day October 18, 1781, in a pageant of devotion. The hazy October sun looked down again on the flash of sun and sabre on the rolling hills again echoed the muzzling of the inner defenses where Cornwallis made his last stand, the sounding of the bugles.

Need of Funds For Davis Campaign Is Stressed by Shaver

The need of funds at the present time to advance the interest of John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president is stressed in a telegram received by this paper this morning from Clem L. Shaver, campaign manager, who stresses the need of money to conduct speakers' drives during the next two weeks. The message from Mr. Shaver is as follows:

"Immediate generous contributions from friends of Democratic party in the form of greatest help to country wide reports indicate Davis' election is a matter of time. The money immediately forwarded to New York."

TOWN TOPICS

It became known today that J. M. King for more than 30 years associated with the Danville Traction and Power company in the role of superintendent of its power plant, is now devoting his entire time to the Danville Ice company with which he has been connected also for many years. The change was made about a week ago and was caused by the closing down of the street car power plant which obviated the necessity of maintaining a superintendent.

Mr. King is the oldest employee of the street car company having superintended the installation of the power works of the company's plant in North Danville which he operated successfully for so many years.

Jack Alfreds, an employee of the Sheehey Shows, sustained a painful fracture of the left arm yesterday afternoon while he was on a street car, proceeding from the Fair grounds to the city. The car driven by Motorman Fickler had just left the College Avenue stop when it is said Alfreds recognizing a friend on the sidewalk, waved his hand which he inserted through the protective bars covering the window. At that moment another street car driven by Motorman Green was coming in the opposite direction and the limb was struck a heavy blow. He was removed in great pain to the General Hospital where the arm was dressed and put in a cast. He was able to leave the institution later in the evening.

Standard Company Denies Va. Tank Wagons Cross Line

City Auditor Richard P. Moss has received a reply to the communication sent to the Standard Oil Company in Baltimore a few days ago asking for equalization of gasoline prices in Virginia and North Carolina.

Company officials however have taken issue with the veracity of one of the charges contained in the letter that gasoline is being sold in North Carolina from the same tank wagons which sell the product at a higher figure in this state. This is not being done, they say. There seems also to be a feeling on the part of the Standard Oil people that this company should not have been singled out for representations, it being claimed that the price war was forced on the Standard Oil company and that it was compelled to meet price cuts made by competitive concerns. The price discrepancies are to be found it is stated in the prevailing schedules of the Gulf Refining company as well as the Texas and the Red C Oil companies.

In some quarters the belief prevails that the price war will not last very much longer and that the abnormal low level of gasoline in North Carolina will sooner or later be abandoned for the higher figures.

THIS TELLS WHO 'GASOLINE ALLEY' FOLK REALLY ARE

"Walt" and "Bill" Buy
Site for Garage.

BY AL CHASE.

Where Gasoline Alley really is and who were the original Walt and Bill and Amy, and who Avery wasn't, and a few other whos and whats, were the thrills the real estate editor got out of the prosaic, humdrum recorder's office yesterday.

That is, he got a line on the facts through a seemingly innocent, commonplace looking realty transfer. Then he journeyed from THE TRIBUNE local room up into the mysterious sixth floor, and in the far corner office he cornered Frank King and pried the facts out of him.

Way Down in Woodlawn.
"Way back when" there wasn't any Gasoline Alley in THE TRIBUNE, Frank King, who does now, in Glencoe, used to make a long journey down to Woodlawn to visit Walter W. Drew, a jolly bachelor with an unruly wisp of hair hanging rakishly over his right eye and whom no doctor ever accused of being underweight. Frank knew him as "Walt."

Another person he always counted on was "Bill," more formally known to the world as William D. Gannon.

Some Good Stories Spoiled.

There are various other automobile fans who need to make a background for "Bill" and "Walt" and "Gasoline Alley," but (and we're afraid this but will hurt the feelings of the various persons who have claimed to be the original "Doc," etc.—yes, some have even claimed to be the real "Avery.") Frank King says "Avery" is a composite of several persons he knew; so is "Doc."

There are other Gasoline Alley originals, however. "Amy," for instance, in real life is the wife of "Bill" Gannon. Her honest-to-goodness name is Gertrude.

Partnership Without a Row.

"Walt Drew is a bachelor," explained Frank King, "and has lived with 'Bill' Gannon and his wife for fifteen years. They've been partners in a car for several years and it's the first time I ever saw such a partnership work out without trouble of some kind. They've got a Reo."

Bill is a locomotive engineer on the Michigan Central and Walt is a traffic engineer for the Western Union. Mr. and Mrs. Bill and Walt now live at 1443 Winona avenue, so you see the originals of Amy, Bill and Walt are pretty far from the real Gasoline alley.

Snap Shot Shows 'Em.

If the inspired makeup man does as we hope he'll do, there'll be a picture right near by of a group in which Frank King is shown with his son, Robert Drew King, the original of Skeezix. "Amy" (Mrs. Gannon) is shown on Frank King's left and Mr. Gannon on "Bill's" right. That bit of jocular banter shows where "Walt" drew stunts.

What started this bit of research into "Gasoline Alley" was the sale by the Edison Water Coal company of the property at 1122 Catalpa avenue to Albert W. Eaton, Walter W. Drew, and William D. Gannon for $105,000, according to the county records. Mr. Eaton has drawn plans and work is under way on a garage to be known as "Gasoline Alley." The three recently sold a garage called "Gasoline Alley," but kept the name for the new venture.

"Walt" Blossom Rumor Killed.

And now one whisper more about the Gasoline Alley you and I know. You've probably heard that report that Walt has been married to Mrs. Blossom for some time. Well, I've heard that rumor for months," said Frank King. "I heard it first out in the far west and since then I've heard it a great many times. It's a lie."

In the old world there is no true species of cactus.

The average life of a railway locomotive is 25 years.

VIRGINIA V. P. I. CLASH STATE'S FEATURE GAME

(By The Associated Press.)

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 18.—The University of Virginia and Virginia Military Institute held the football notice of Virginia today, although of little interest were the clashes at Washington between V. P. I. and Maryland and at Lexington, Ky., between Kentucky and Washington and Lee.

About one thousand students journeyed over the mountains from Charlottesville to Lexington to witness the Cavalier-Cadet clash, in which the university squad hoped to avenge last year's 35 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Flying Squadron. Special trains from the larger cities of the state carried alumni and followers of the teams of the two schools and indications were a record breaking crowd would witness the contest.

Washington and Lee went into the game with Kentucky today still smarting under the setback last week by Wake Forest. Over confidence will be lacking when the Generals take the field, but they will be none the less determined to take the mountaineers into camp. Tech was expected to have a hard battle with Maryland and was prepared to open its bag of tricks to add the game to the right side of the won and lost column.

The university of Richmond Splendid opened their home season today against the Blue Devils from Trinity college of North Carolina; William and Mary was not expected to have easy going against Randolph-Macon and the Mountain Tornado of King college went up against the tough Third Army. Henry took on East Tennessee normal. Roanoke also had little opposition in Concord. Hampden Sidney clashed with Elion and Lynchburg met the strong Gaidudet eleven at Washington.

STRUGGLE FOR BIG TEN TITLE ON IN EARNEST

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Championship aspirations of eight western conference football teams furnished the gage of battle today as the struggle for the Big Ten title assumed major proportions.

The actual test of the season was faced by Illinois and Michigan at Urbana in the new $1,700,000 Illinois stadium, with 67,000 seats sold. The teams of the title last year furnished another incentive for vigorous efforts and the result was expected to settle, in the minds of fans at least, the question of superiority for two years.

Three other conference championship games also were in which conference opponents were faced filled out today's Big Ten bill.

Columbia and Pa., Both Undefeated, Will Play Today

(By The Associated Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—Columbia and Pennsylvania football teams both undefeated, were in prime condition for their annual gridiron struggle on Franklin field today.

Both eleven have impressive records for the season. In three games the New Yorkers have piled up 116 points without having their goal line crossed. The only score against Coach Haughton's team was a field goal in the opening contest against Haverford. The Blue and White won the game 29 to 3 and the following:

Wisconsin was an unknown quantity in its engagement with Minnesota at Madison, the invaders had a number of outstanding players who showed up well against the Haskell Indians last week.

Ohio State and Iowa, which have previously played this season in conference games entertained the non-conference squads respectively of Ohio Wesleyan at Columbus and Lawrence college at Iowa City.

week overwhelmed St. Lawrence 52 to 0. Last Saturday Columbia defeated Wesleyan 35 to 0.

Pennsylvania has scored a total of 187 points in four games to seven for its opponents, the Ivy League touch-downs have been made by Swarthmore, Fordham, Princeton, and Marshall. Drexel and Franklin and Marshall were unable to score within striking distance of the Red and Blue goal line.

troops get umbrellas

PEKING, Oct. 18.—Chinese warriors demand umbrellas. About $500 of them were shipped from Peking for the use of the Kiangs soldiers in the fighting in the Shanghai district. One soldier digs trenches while another holds an umbrella over him, and marching troops, in couples, take turns at carrying umbrellas.

THE NUT CRACKER BY JOE WILLIAMS

Real Test of Football Elevens Comes This Afternoon

NOTRE DAME PLAYS ARMY, DARTMOUTH CLASHES WITH YALE, NAVY WITH TIGERS

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—For football the big show begins today. Wherever his eye may roam on the eastern stage today the grid enthusiast will hear the booming call of the ball, see the startling dash of an open field run, the colorful riot of a polished team, the colorful riot of people and incident, and sense the gripping tension of indecision.

At New Haven, 40,000 persons will measure the threat of Dartmouth to Yale prestige, an unusual situation at such an early date. At Princeton another 40,000 will pack the gray cement stadium as Navy and the Tigers struggle back to a place in the gridiron picture which both lost last week.

Beneath Coogan's Bluff, so recently the scene of baseball's greatest drama, the classic intercollegiate rivalry between Notre Dame and Army will enter its eleventh chapter. Among the 60,000 expected to crowd the Polo Grounds will be 1400 cadets and a representation of military officials.

Cornell, whose royal purple was muddied by Williams last week, will fall to the task of removing the smear by attempting to use as a polish, a veteran Rutgers team, certain to object. The contest will be the second played in the new Cornell stadium.

At Cambridge, Harvard will meet its near Nemesis, Holy Cross, which annually almost defeats the Crimson. Boston College will travel to Syracuse to challenge the Orange in one of the toughest engagements of the day. Columbia moves to Penn with Walter Koppisch geared high. Washington and Jefferson will meet the tartar of the Pittsburgh district in Carnegie Tech.

The day is pregnant with possibilities. Dartmouth, a slight favorite, may score its initial point and victory against Yale in the first contest between the schools since 1900. Columbia, with Haughton's system budding, may defeat Penn. for the first time since 1903.

Army which has not scored upon Knute Rockne's flares since 1920 and which has not reversed the course of the Blue Comet since 1916, may overcome the speed of the fast backfield—Miller, Layden, Crowley, Stuhldreher, the latter "the best bow-legged quarterback in the country."

Holy Cross may materialize its threat and shatter Harvard's dream of returning gridiron supremacy after a period of lean years. Rutgers may elevate its position by repeating the Williams triumph over Cornell. Individual fortunes will rise and fall. Overlander, of Dartmouth, Pond and Bench of Yale, Wilson and Garbisch of Army, Hazel and Benkert of Rutgers, Siasle of Princeton, McBride, of Syracuse, Gehrke of Harvard, or anyone of the Notre Dame backfield may flash across the sky with the unquenchable brilliance sometimes achieved in a single game of importance. The number of undefeated teams will dwindle and the path to the mythical championship will narrow.

DANVILLE LOSES TO ALTAVISTA, 10 TO 6 IN COLORLESS CONTEST

In weather more suitable for baseball, Altavista defeated Danville in a colorless game here yesterday afternoon at Stonehill Jackson park, 10 to 6.

Straight line plunges gained ground for the visitors, while off side penalties, estimated to total 50 or 70 yards hurt the local team's chance of winning.

Wilburn for Altavista kicked a field goal in the first period, and further scoring came in the third quarter when Owens carried the ball over and Wilburn made a drop kick.

For Danville, R. Farley intercepted an Altavista forward pass and ran about 70 yards for a touchdown. Danville failed to make a point after touchdown.

An estimated 300 persons saw the game.

Line-up:
Danville (6) (Pos.) Altavista (10)
Farley, R. ... Lane
Dyer ... Left end
Blackwell ... Left guard

Reeves ... Bowen, J.
Clark (C.) ... Robertson
Tucker ... Right guard

STUNT FLIER KILLED.
NEW HALL, Calif., Oct. 17.—Dick Kerwood, a stunt flier, fell from a ladder of the plane on which he was to perform for a movie, and was dashed to death without his pilot partner knowing of it. Frank Tomick was the pilot. The body was found after searching parties combed four miles of the territory and Newhall and Pico canyons. Nobody knows how Kerwood came to fall. The dangling ladder informed Tomick of the tragedy when he glanced back as his plane neared the camera site.

$35,000 RACE CLOSES LATONIA TRACK TODAY

(By The Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 17.—Six horses were nominated today to start in the Latonia championship for three year olds at a mile and three quarters at Latonia tomorrow. The race is worth approximately $35,000 and will close the racing season at the Milldale course.
Chilhowee, which holds the distinction of having broken two local track records at this meeting, running the mile and a sixteenth in 1:42 4-5 and the mile and an eighth in 1:48 4-5 probably will be the favorite over Pritchett, Ruler, Flames, Aggie, Khan, Mad Play and Graeme. In this race last year in Memoriam was returned the winner over Zev and My Own.

Dreams Each has Its Own Meaning

Modern science supports views that in the dream-state of mind a person is enabled to do things impossible in the waking state.

Have you ever heard this saying "I will sleep over it?"

Of course you have, for many have found they have been able to iron out their problems by lapsing into slumber. And there are those who will go further—they will tell you that during their slumbers the answers to their problems have come to them.

Writers and mathematicians have been aided by the power of dreams on many occasions.

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, from the pen of R. L. Stevenson, came from the author's dreams. John Bunyan acknowledged the influence of dreams over his work, and his famous "Pilgrim's Progress," woven from sleep visions, have helped many other pilgrims through life's journey.

Sleep affords the inner mind an opportunity to express itself. Inspiration and ambition are often aroused. Artistic creation—the work of the musician or painter—are given stimulant.

Cabanis, the great philosopher, found aid by leaving his difficult problems to his dream power. He found that the subconscious mind worked like lightning in a dream, and on awaking never needed until the particular task had been completed.

Experiments of scientists into dream powers have led to the belief that before sleeping the mind should be cleared of all but the problem or a general idea of what one desires to create.

Then, upon awakening in the morning if the problem has not been presented in a dream a moment, or thought upon the subject may bring the inspiration which will reveal a solution.

Interpretations
Garden—To dreams of a well-kept garden means money. Good fortune in store if badly kept, misfortune.
Hill—Happiness and success, if you but see it, but sorrow if you move it.
Ink—To spill this writing fluid means separation and losses.

Linen—Good fortune or an inheritance.
Mountains—A good dream of good fortune will come to you if you are climbing.

Painting—Domestic affliction.
TOMORROW—Presumption.

Special Football Correspondent of The Bee, 814 World Building, New York

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)
QUESTION—Will you kindly advise if Fordham University and Canisius College have met on the gridiron within the past three years?
ANSWER—Yes, in 1922, Fordham winning, 13 to 0.

QUESTION—Where is Charles Moran, former Centre College coach, this year?
Did Tennessee play Maryville last year? If so what score?
ANSWER—At Bucknell.
Yes, at Knoxville. Tie 14-14.

QUESTION—Team A throws a forward pass. It strikes goal post of Team B. An eligible player of Team A catches it on rebound from post and makes touchdown. Is this a legal score?

ANSWER—No. The ball becomes a touchback as soon as it hits the post.

ANOTHER AERIAL TRIUMPH

The ZR-3's safe arrival from Germany in slightly more than eighty-one hours marks another milestone in the navigation of the skies in which new chapters are being constantly written. The romance of the undertaking which finds this aerial goliath hovering over Lake Constance last Sunday and then over the metropolises of the western world by the following Wednesday is calculated to make the world pause and marvel at the times. Not a mishap marred the historic flight, but, as in the case of Christopher Columbus, contrary winds upset early reckonings and the navigators in the Zeppelin's cabin were put to a stern test of ingenuity in dodging storms which the pioneer of the Atlantic was unable to do. But for the remarkable development of wireless telegraphy and another meteorology another tragic story might have been told but equipped with this means of communication the airship's commander was enabled to receive constant reports of weather conditions while passing ships on the broad expanse of the Atlantic below her spoke her from time to time giving her position and facilitating the charting of her course.

The magnificent airship which costs the United States no outlay of money since she is in the nature of war booty supplied by Germany and delivered on the German reparations account will be used for the pursuits of peace and the success of her five thousand mile flight—the longest single air trip ever made without alighting—opens up new avenues of progress and aerial transportation which before the present generation is old may be an established custom.

Robert Small the well known correspondent offers a plausible explanation for the Shenandoah's dash to the West timed with the arrival of her sister ship. Many have been wondering why the American built vessel was sent so far and why the German Zeppelin arrived. There is only one answer in the country large enough for ships of the size of the two now owned by this country though numerous masts have been built at strategic points. The purpose of sending the Shenandoah to the other side of the country was, according to Mr. Small, to put her beyond the ZR-3 which will carry her until the ZR-3 has been equipped of her inflammable hydrogen gas which might through some misfortune explode and wreck the costly vessel. The Shenandoah is filled with the more expensive though non-inflammable helium gas, more of which will be accumulated now to fill the six cells of the German built ship, rendering her safe from this possible disaster.

All in all the trip from Germany is a memorable one and those for-

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

Who Is Right?

The one great danger to democracy is its tendency toward more laws and a multiplicity of law makers and bosses.

The forest nation is the one that is the least held in restraint, but with the maximum of self-respect inbred.

And self-respect to my notion is what makes up the strong individual.

The self-respecting man or woman who knows few laws and those known bother them not at all.

The less one is restrained the more is individuality brought out and made to grow. Expression becomes spontaneous and the generous heart opens all its doors and lifts all its shades.

In such a state the question of right in the minds of self-respecting people is clearest, because every man and woman at once is affected by the wrongdoing or breach of thoughtfulness on the part of the humblest human.

But with the air full of don'ts and can'ts each of us ask: Who is right?

I have always felt that he is nearest the right who feels the most right. Our entire being reacts to any unharmonious influence. It is like the false note in the playing of a great orchestra.

Every wholesome, healthy human known when he is right. He does not need to be told. It is not a truth that can be read from some book or uttered by someone who does not understand.

I would not say, however, that a man should be a law unto himself, but a law unto others. We are always most right when we feel right toward others and the world.

THE REFEREE

By Albert Apple

TROUBLE

A pair of boll weevils is capable of producing 12 million young ones, scientists determine. Small wonder this beetle invader from Mexico has gotten out of control and destroys 300 million dollars' worth of American cotton a year.

The reproductive power of insect life is phenomenal. In countless billions they are constantly eliminating the supremacy of the earth. Possibly, in the great scheme of things, their affairs are quite as important as ours.

POISON

A poison 10,000 times as powerful as calcium arsenate is being sought by army chemists. They will find it, doubt, in their laboratories at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland.

This terrifically destructive poison will be used in the battle against the boll weevil which is gradually eliminating America's cotton growers. Ponder such a poison and what might be done with it in the next war, poisoning the drinking water of great cities.

FATHEHO

She has nine children. The truant officer in Orange, N. J., learns that they were absent so much from school because the mother couldn't afford enough clothing for them. Instead, they had to go in relays, taking turns.

That such a condition can exist in the midst of our enormous national wealth is dangerous. There is no excuse for poverty in America—except laziness, shiftlessness, which are absent in this case, father and mother being hard workers.

MANY

What do you think of the New Jersey couple with nine children, so many they cannot afford enough clothes to send all to school? Many will comment: "There is no problem involved, except that this man and wife had too many offspring."

Government always is reluctant to lend a hand in such cases. It might change to willing, even, enthusiastic if surplus children were presented in the light of potential future taxpayers. That seems to be the main function of government in the long run.

INTEREST

Big wars are always financed on a 5 per cent. interest basis, an economist announces. Lifting his tired head from the history of several centuries. And always, he finds, the return on normal peacetime conditions brings a gradual lowering of interest rates, stabilizing finally around 3 per cent.

That's happening now, history repeating. The day of cheap money is returning—for government, and probably for businesses and individual borrowers.

BUILDING

This year will close with 600 million dollars' worth of new buildings erected in the United States, predict officials of S. W. Straus & Co., able authorities.

The figure for 1923 was about the same. Twelve billion dollars' worth of construction in two years is a lot. The housing shortage is not yet eliminated, but a big hole has been made in it. Which brings the public closer to lower rents. Maybe if we can hang on 50 or 75 years, rents will be back to normal.

Rum boat blew up off the Atlantic coast and didn't hurt half as many as if it had landed.

Trouble with second-hand information is it usually has been misused.

Consolation

Where there's neither hurt nor pain

God has taken him again

Where no fever burns the brow

God is cherishing him now

Where no breath leads astray

God is guiding him today

God is keeping him for you

Never shall he meet his fate

Never shall he meet his fate

God has spared him all the care

These of us who live must bear

Did you wonder years ago

How he came to love you so?

Years ago did you not say

You would hear his voice some day?

Then you never held a doubt

That his love would seek you out.

Out of all the throng, you knew

God would send him down to you.

It may be in heaven that birth

Is what men call death on earth.

And what men call death, we'll learn

Is the spirit's glad return.

Brave the loneliness and pain

You shall have his love again.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime

The Affair at Flower Acres
© 1924 by NEA Service Inc. WELLS

BEGIN HERE TODAY
The body of Douglas Raynor lay on the floor of the early evening. On the floor of the sun room at Flower Acres, his Long Island home. Standing over the dead man, pistol in hand, was Malcolm Finley, former sweetheart of Raynor's wife, Nancy. Ever since Raynor's nurse, stands by the door with her hand still on the light switch. In a moment Nancy appears, white-faced and terrified. Orville Kent, Nancy's brother, comes in from the south side of the room, and from the scene, Police, headed by Detective Dobbins, are conducting an investigation. I found Mr. Raynor on the floor, a pistol by his side. Finley explains: "I picked up the weapon. Suddenly the lights came on. I saw Mr. Raynor standing in the doorway."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Chapter V Family Affairs

Mr. Dobbins raised his finger. "Wait, sir, stop right there. Let me reconstruct the scene."

He rolled up this phrase with gusto. "As I understand it, the sun parlor, on the south side of the house, has four doors, one facing each of the sun parlor, with the house."

"Opening into a hall."

"A cross hall, yes," Goddard said. "Now, then," and Dobbins looked straight at Malcolm Finley. "When you came in from the terrace, where we had tea—"

"Yes, he told all that. Reconstruct the scene, please."

"Mr. Raynor appeared at the west door of the sun parlor. And stood there—as shocked, as petrified, as I was myself."

"You examined him?"

"Yes, I stood quite still," Mrs. Raynor, startled by the sound of the shot, appeared at the west door. She had come from the terrace, where we had tea—" a quiet way. "Your own surprise at the fearful scene the sudden light showed you dazed your eyes, as well as your brain, and you couldn't tell just what you did say."

"Indeed I could," Miss Turner spoke with decided asperity. "But I will admit I don't know which of you it was that killed him. Only—Mr. Dobbins—it must have been one of the 'sees' which Mr. Dobbins so earnestly desired to have reconstructed includes some five or six individuals—any one of whom might have shot Mr. Raynor—possibly for your own sake."

Therefore, Miss Turner, for your own good, let me advise you to say less and think more."

"After I have thought more—I can say a good deal more," was the significant response to this, and the Miss Turner was called back by the doctors.

"A valuable witness, that nurse," and Detective Dobbins nodded his head in satisfaction. "The way she knew the time, now, there's no one else who could have been so reliable for you! We'll learn a lot from that woman when the time comes for her further revelation."

"But don't forget, Mr. Dobbins," Goddard warned him, that Miss Turner, so far, is just as open to suggestion as any one else. Don't forget that, although Mr. Finley was at the east door, and Mrs. Raynor at the west one, yet they may have been attracted by the sound of a shot in the next room."

"At what time?"

"At exactly five minutes before seven."

"How do you know so definitely?"

"Because, as a nurse, I always know precisely what time it is. I know."

"There's little to tell," said Miss Turner, who looked utterly worn and exhausted, perhaps owing to her experience with the doctors in the next room. "I heard a shot."

"Because, as a nurse, I always know precisely what time it is. I know."

"There's little to tell," said Miss Turner, who looked utterly worn and exhausted, perhaps owing to her experience with the doctors in the next room. "I heard a shot."

"At what time?"

"At exactly five minutes before seven."

DRAKES BRANCH, October 18.—(Grapevine Wireless).—A little philosophy now and then is relished by the best of men. It has been said, "there are sermons in books, sermons in brooks, etc." but the humble banyard knows its lesson so plain that all who run may read.

Said the puddle duck to the little white hen, "I've not sold an egg since I laid it, and I'm a little bit of a philosopher, too. I feel quite sure that eggs lay are as good as a hen's egg any old day. Said the little white hen to the puddle duck, "You think perhaps you are out of luck. Your eggs are as good as a hen's egg any old day. Said the puddle duck, "I'll give you a tip, the whole fault lies with your salesmanship. You produce your egg without a quack to your swimming pool you would back, I think the world, to let it know so I cackle around for an hour or so. There's a good demand for the eggs I lay, for I make my advertising pay."

ELEVATORS IN TOWERS
The 16 wireless masts to support the aerial of the powerful station at Rugby, England, are so high that each is equipped with an elevator to take workmen to the top when repairs are needed. When this station is completed, commercial radio service will be established between England and America.

KEEPS CLOSE RECORD
Station KGO at Oakland, Calif., keeps a record or "log" of every program number and change of apparatus, every minute it is on the air. It helps check up and answer all sorts of queries about its broadcasts.

IT'S A HUSHAPHONE
Broadcasting from open spaces where large crowds are assembled require a new type of microphone, called a "hushaphone." It is designed to exclude the shout and other noise of the crowds while the broadcasting is going on.

STORIES FOR BOYS
Station WEAF, New York, has begun a weekly series of stories for boys to be delivered early Saturday night by Fred J. Turner, newspaper man and feature writer. Most of them will be instructive adventure stories.

STANDARD FREQUENCIES
The U. S. Bureau of Standards has extended the range of its standard frequency transmissions, to be checked up by experimenters, broadcasters and others. The frequencies hereafter will extend from 125 to 6000 kilocycles, or from 2400 to 50 meters.

Besides being broadcasting stations the large transmitting studios must be information bureaus. For all sorts of unrelated queries come in from all parts of the country.

MUST BE TOLERATED
Radio broadcast listeners must keep on tolerating static. Although it has been found that there is less static with short wavelengths, it has not yet been found practicable to build receivers for shorter than the present broadcasting minimum. So static must stay a while.

DAILY PUZZLE

E R I R
N S R L

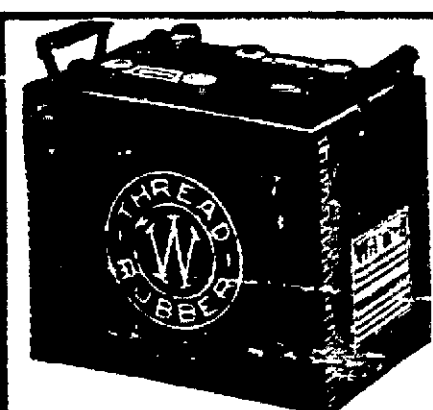

This is an incomplete "checked word square." It contains four words of seven letters each. The stars indicate missing letters which must be filled. Thus the word "G L E N" may be read either vertically or horizontally, and the other three words likewise. The odd line of four stars, spaced apart, do not form words; these stars are merely letters that fill the longer words.

Thus there are only three letters required to fill out each seven-letter word; nevertheless, it will take careful study to complete the puzzle!

Yesterday's answer:

The drawing shows how all the dark squares of a checkerboard may be traversed in one continuous line, without retracing any lines, and with right-angle crossings permitted.

Uses House Current

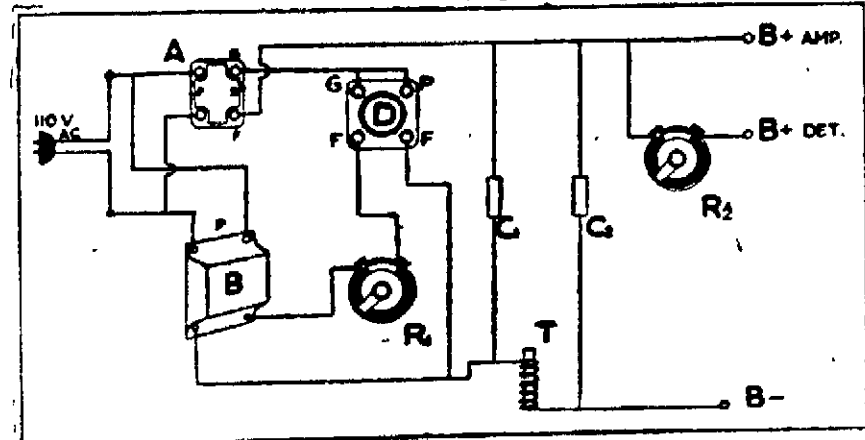

DIAGRAM SHOWING PARTS AND CONNECTIONS FOR A B-BATTERY ELIMINATOR.

By ISRAEL KLEIN

One of the features at the recent Radio World's Fair in New York was an instrument which obviates the use of A and B batteries. It is connected directly to the 110-volt A. C. light current in the house and to the battery terminals of the receiver. For fans who care to dabble with electrical connections, a method has been devised by which they may set up their own B battery eliminators. Its principle lies in the transformation of a constant A. C. voltage of 110 volts to a variable direct current for detector and amplifier plates.

The apparatus consists of the following parts:

- A. bell ringing transformer.
- B. low ratio audio frequency transformer.
- C1 and C2 two by-pass condensers, 4mf capacity.
- D. hard vacuum tube, of 201-A type, and socket.
- R1, six ohm rheostat.
- R2, variable resistance between 10,000 and 100,000 ohms.
- T, 10-henry choke coil.
- Five binding posts, wire for connections.

Transformers Joined

In making the connections, as shown in the accompanying diagram.

It will be noted that the two transformers are crossed, with one terminal of each primary connected to an ordinary electric light plug and the secondary terminals going to the eliminator.

The secondary of the bell transformer is connected across the filament terminals. The grid terminal of the audio frequency transformer secondary is joined to both grid and plate terminal, shorting these, and the filament terminal becomes the highest B voltage to the amplifier.

From the positive filament terminal of the vacuum tube, the connection runs through a 10-henry choke coil, which may be the secondary of a low-ratio audio frequency transformer, from there becoming the negative B terminal to the receiver.

Detector Connection

The by-pass condensers are shunted across to the amplifier side from each end of the choke coil.

For the detector terminal to the receiver, a variable resistance is installed from the amplifier line, so that the voltage may be controlled.

With this done, all that is necessary is plugging the eliminator into an ordinary electric light socket and attaching the three terminals to the necessary points in the receiver.

RAILROAD SECURITIES ARE IN GOOD DEMAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Due to the ironing of merger difficulties railroad securities were in good demand but buying was not confined to them. Fewer to any special group. With very few exceptions the whole list moved moderately forward, in response to improving business conditions and increasing confidence in a Republican victory. Each day apparently unfolds some favorable development of more or less importance, all straws indicating the upward business trend. The action of the railroad officials should have a far reaching effect, coming as it does at a time when confidence has been unshaken. It speaks much for their faith in the future. Gradually this confidence should grow. As we near the date of election it should be further impressed upon the public mind and a broadening of trade at advancing prices will be the logical result. In one word, the time has come to take advantage of the many attractive investment opportunities offered.

Although only 4,400 stars can be seen with the naked eye, a catalog of 4,000,000 is being prepared.

The Work of Samuel M. Kier

Interesting Sketches in Oil No. 3

WELLS sunk for brine to supply the salt works were troubled with what the owners called "odd, mysterious grease." Samuel M. Kier a Pittsburgh druggist, conceived the idea of saving the "grease," and in 1846 he bottled it as a medicine. He believed absolutely in the greenish fluid, at first as a medicine and later on as an illuminant. The Oil was sold at fifty cents a half-pint. About 1848 Kier experimented with it for light, racking his brains for some means to get rid of the offensive smoke and odor. To be entirely successful, the oil must have something more than its crude form. A Philadelphia chemist advised distillation, but Kier's first attempt was not very successful. Slight changes in the lamp enabled him to burn the distilled oil without smoke. Further improvements, especially the "Virus Burner," as well as in the quality of the fluid, brought "Carbon Oil" as it was usually termed, nearer perfection. "Carbon Oil" sold readily for a dollar-fifty per gallon, and provided a market for all that the neighboring salt wells could produce. The dawn of a new day was breaking.

Fifty cents a half-pint crude— and later on a dollar-fifty a gallon refined! The imperfect "Carbon Oil" of seventy-five years ago cost practically seven times as much as the highly perfected Red C Oil and White C Oil, same except in color, that you can obtain so conveniently today! But if The Red C Oil and The White C Oil cost that old-time, sky-high figure of a dollar-fifty a gallon, we could give you no finer Kerosene for your Lamps, Stoves and Incubators.

Tricks of FAKE MEDIUMS

The spirit "medium" is searched and placed behind a curtain cabinet while the lights are extinguished. A few moments later a light appears over the heads of the "sitters," and gradually develops into a baby spirit which finally disappears. The "spirit" is composed of air-tight silk, which is coated with luminous paint that shines radiantly in the dark. It is affixed inside a large watch case. The stem of the watch draws out to form a thin telescopic rod. The "medium" holds the watch over the heads of the "sitters," by means of the rod, and blows through the tube formed by the hollow rod. The silk form is slowly inflated, and thus the "spirit" appears.

GLASS TO SPEAK IN BALTIMORE FRIDAY

(By GEORGE H. MANNING)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 17.—Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, has responded to the plea of the Democratic National committee that he assist in putting some "pep" into the campaign for the Davis-Bryan ticket in Maryland by agreeing to deliver an address at the armory in Baltimore next Friday night.

Senator Glass, with his well known vim and characteristic rule of calling a spade a spade, is looked upon by Senator Claude A. Swanson, of Virginia, chairman of the Speakers' Bureau of the Democratic National committee, as the torch needed to start the flame for the Democratic National ticket in Maryland, one of the "Border" States which must be carried to assure success. Senator Swanson made the arrangements for Senator Glass' appearance in Baltimore.

The armory in Baltimore is the hall in which Woodrow Wilson was nominated for president in the Democratic National Convention of 1912. The meeting of Democrats which Senator Glass is to address is to be one of the most important to be held in Maryland this fall, and will be far-reaching in its effect on the way the State will go on November 4, according to Mrs. J. Johnson Poe, national committeewoman for Maryland.

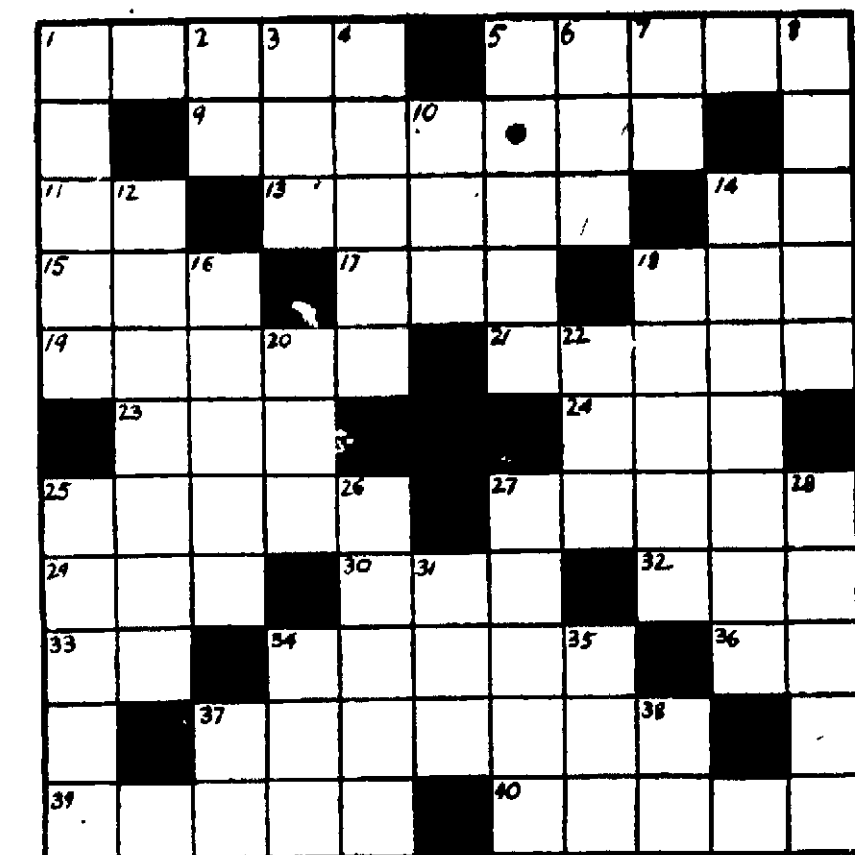

Congressman R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax, is also to take a hand in the Maryland campaign with an address at Rockville on October 30. This is planned to be a big Democratic rally which will be attended by Governor Ritchie and many of the most prominent Democrats of the State.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A night in a Greek cabaret. The New Cosmos in the center of the Grecian community which fringes Eighth avenue. On a small stage four girls sit stiffly in stiff-backed chairs. Three of them with thick features, thick black hair; clumsy, fat, greasy bodies negroid in aspect. The other slim, blond, graceful—like a girl on a magazine cover.

In the corner a cymbalom, played by a squat, thick-muscled wrestler with a face like a gargoyle. A clarinet player, aged before his time, his face pale as a mask of death.

Gaudy paintings and trappings in hideous combinations of colors. Men sitting about wire-legged tables, all wearing their caps and hats. The music starts in a mad frenzy. The girls beat tambourines. The cymbalom player throws back his head and bays like a hound at the moon. He splutters and spits and grimaces.

Two young fellows arise from a table. They toss a dollar bill to the cymbalom player and he shuts up, beginning to play in a new frenzy. They began to two of the fat girls who come down to dance.

The men take handkerchiefs from their pockets and twist one end about their forefingers. The girls hold the other end. They walk about a small dancing space. They follow no pattern of steps. They walk, walk, walk.

The man follows the girl at two paces. They reverse and the girl follows the man. Their steps seem to be entirely independent of the tempo of the music.

The cymbalom player and the clarinetist grow weak. The gargoyle face opens to emit his crazy sounds. One of the dancers throws him another dollar bill. It passes along to the big fat lady on the end and she stuffs it into a cigar box. The volume of music increases again.

Again the same old steps. It is very much like the childish game of ring-around-the-rosy—only not so pretty.

The dancers stop. A waiter hands them demi-tasses of mastigo, a sweetish drink of anisette. He points out the patrons who have bought it. The dancers nod to those who treat them and toss off the drink.

Another dollar to the musicians. More music. More dancing. More drinks. Thus it goes for an hour. The girls tire and return to their tambourines. The men waddle about, drunkenly, foolishly. Two other young blades arise and join them.

One is slim. His hair is jet black, greasy and eight inches long. They all hold handkerchiefs. All remove their coats. Two have their sleeves caught with bright blue garters.

The long-haired youth is the cracker on the whip. He swirls to the floor, like a whirling dervish, swiveling on the handkerchief held by one of the others. He springs like an acrobat on the stage, but his motions are not in rhythm to the music.

On they go. Drinks, crazy yelps from the cymbalom player, dollars tossed to the musicians till the cigar box is stuffed. The audience seems apathetic. Only the drunken dancers are having a good time.

The girls with ankles and torsos like the Colossus of Rhodes remain impassive. When they dance their interest in their partners is entirely impersonal. There is no contact of bodies, no insinuating motions.

No moralist could find fault with the dancing except for the heavy toll the dancers pay for their fiddling.

Art? The classics of Greece? Ancient worship of perfect form? The gods have crashed from Olympus, Pan and Terpsichore and Apollo have rolled to the foot of Parnassus. —JAMES W. DEAN.

LONDONERS LIVE LONGER LIVES

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Londoners today are living twenty years longer than their grandparents. This fact was disclosed in the report of the health committee of the London county council which states that the average expectation of life of male Londoners is greater by 19.2 years than eighty years ago and women by 20.8 years.

The average male Londoner today lives to 53.8 years and the average woman to 53.1.

The death rate in 1923 was 11.4 per thousand, the lowest on record, and infant mortality was 61 per thousand, also a record. The report claims that London is one of the most healthy cities of the world.

Two Cars in One— An open and closed car combined

STUDEBAKER Duplex—a closed and open car combined. An entirely new type car—developed by Studebaker and available from no other maker.

It is the most sensational—most talked-of car in America.

One minute you are enjoying the comfort and protection of a closed car—next the unhindered freedom that made the open car so popular. And the change can be made in 30 seconds by simply lowering the roller side enclosures.

Yet with all this two-fold convenience, the Duplex-Phaeton sells for no more than an open car.

The new Studebaker Big Six is strikingly beautiful—with long, low sweeping lines. It is especially designed and powered for seven-passenger service.

The Big Six Duplex-Phaeton is delivered to you with complete equipment. This even includes two highest grade bumpers, extra balloon tire, tube and tire cover—there is nothing else to buy.

But to appreciate this car you must inspect it—drive it. Test its delightful ease of operation—steering mechanism especially designed for its full-sized balloon tires.

Notice the new location of the lighting switch on the steering wheel—and many other new and unusual features.

See this car that has definitely solved the open-closed car problem.

THE PARABLE OF THE SOWER

TEXT: MARK 4:1-20

And he began again to teach by the sea side; and there was gathered unto him a great multitude, so that he entered into a ship, and sat in the sea; and the whole multitude was by the sea on the land.

And he taught them many things by parables, and said unto them in his doctrine.

Hearken: Behold, there went out a sower to sow:

And it came to pass, as he sowed, some fell by the wayside, and the fowls of the air came and devoured it up.

And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth, and immediately it sprang up, because it had no depth of earth.

But when the sun was up, it was scorched; and because it had no root it withered away.

And some fell among the thorns, and the thorns grew up, and choked it, and it yielded no fruit.

And other fell on good ground, and did yield fruit that sprang up and increased, and brought forth some thirty, and some forty, and some an hundred.

And he said unto them, He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

And when he was alone, they that were about him with the twelve asked of him the parable.

And he said unto them, Unto you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God, but unto them that are without, all these things are done in parables:

That seeing they may see, and not perceive; and hearing they may hear, and not understand; lest at any time they should be converted, and their sins should be forgiven them.

And he said unto them, Know ye not this parable? and how then will ye know all parables?

The sower soweth the word. And these are they by the wayside, where the word is sown; but when they have heard, Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the word that was sown in their hearts.

And these are they likewise that are sown on stony ground: who, when they have heard the word, immediately receive it with gladness;

And have no root in themselves, and no endure but for a time; afterward, when affliction or persecution ariseth for the word's sake, immediately they are offended.

And these are they which are sown among thorns, such as hear the word,

And the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful.

And these are they which are sown on good ground; such as hear the word, and receive it, and bring forth fruit, some thirty-fold, some sixty and some an hundred.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 19: The Parable of the Sower. Mark 4:1-20.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor-in-Chief of The Congregationalist.

Ears are for hearing. That seems a very sensible proposition. So Jesus says, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear."

We are accustomed in daily life to attach a great deal of importance to seeing. Social workers have made such shocking discoveries regarding the defects of eyesight in children, and the serious consequences that are liable to follow in suffering, disease and accident if these defects are not corrected, that now widespread examinations are made in the schools, and the aid of the optician and oculist is sought where it is needed.

In an intellectual and spiritual sense, also, we lay special stress on observation. Since the stereopticon and moving picture machines have attained their place the great universities are establishing departments of "visual instruction."

Jesus did not neglect to refer to the necessity of proper vision. He said a great deal about "blindness" and "seeing." But it is doubtful whether any teacher ever paid as much attention as did the Great Teacher to the gateway of the ear.

This Parable of the Sower is intended to tell us more about hearing, than about seeing. It ought to be called "The Parable of the Hearing." Art has helped to conceal its real purpose and teaching, for we always see the story of the Parable pictured in a sower going forth to broadcast his seed. It would not, of course, be quite so easy to portray the ideal hearer.

But, none the less, the Parable is designed to teach a lesson about hearing. How do we know? Because Jesus himself has told us. This is one of the few parables that He has himself explained.

The disciples found it hard to understand, and they came to Jesus and asked him what it meant. He did not tell them to be careful about the seed, and to watch how they sowed it.

What He did was to tell them about the different kinds of ground. He told them the sort of people, and the kind of hearing, that were typified in each kind of ground that He had described, and He wound up His explanation of the Parable with a very pointed injunction which showed very clearly His purpose in telling the Parable.

This injunction, or warning, is differently expressed by Mark and Luke. Mark says that Jesus said, "Take heed what ye hear," while Luke gives the words as, "Take heed how ye hear." Both mean much the same thing, and we get the full meaning of Jesus by taking both expressions.

In effect this Parable says to each one of us, What sort of ground are you? Are you the ground by the wayside, hearing just listlessly or by chance, not making it your chief purpose in life to hear God's voice? Or are you the stony ground, without any depth or subsoil, where God's truth takes hold lightly and springs up quickly but dies as quickly for lack of root? Or are you the thorny ground, where neglect and so many evil influences interfere with the seeds of truth taking hold and flourishing? Or are you the good ground, really hearing and receiving God's word and bringing forth fruit?

Just as vision is a matter not only of physical eyesight, but of perception and power of observation, hearing is a matter of the soul. But the ear is a gateway to the soul. It is the ground on which the seed is caught. The farmer when he sows his seed often speaks about a "good catch." We ought to think and speak a little more about that in a world where God is scattering so much seed of truth for the ground of human life.

"Take heed what ye hear." "Take heed how ye hear." By hearing, of course, Jesus meant, as he shows in the Parable, not just catching sounds but understanding meanings. To understand God is to hear with the soul.

SUFFERED SINCE YOUNG GIRL

Words Failed to Express Benefit Received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Greenville, Texas.—"Words cannot express how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Every month I would have cramps and headache, and I felt like I was freezing to death. I suffered in this way from the time I was a young girl, and all the doctors said was 'operation.' For months I had a tired, sleepy feeling all day, and when night would come I would be so nervous I couldn't stay in bed. Our druggist recommended the Vegetable Compound to my husband and he bought four bottles. I have taken every one and I think I have a right to praise your medicine."—Mrs. J. B. HOLLEMAN, 224 E. Marshall Street, Greenville, Texas.

For fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been used by women from girlhood through middle age. It is a dependable medicine for troubles common to women. Such symptoms as Mrs. Holleman had are relieved by correcting the cause of the trouble. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Announcement

To the merchants, former customers and friends of this City and Surrounding Country:

We have re-opened The Pure Food Bakery at my former plant 582-588 Loyal St., and will as heretofore continue to make the Famous Butterkrust Bread. A complete line of Cakes, Pastries and Bakery Products.

We are in a better position now than ever to give you both service and quality goods, as we did from 1900 to 1921. There are a great many things made in our Bakery that we originated and these secret formulas have never been used by other manufacturers.

Butterkrust Bread is the best bread sold in Danville and when better bread is made The Pure Food Bakery will make it. You will find our products in practically every store in the city and community.

As the new telephone directory is not from press until November please make note of our phone No. 401.

We invite the public to visit our plant from 5 a. m., to 7 p. m., and see how we make our famous Cakes and Butterkrust Bread.

Very Respectfully,

Pure Food Bakery

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creosolium, an emulsified extract that is pleasant to take. Creosolium is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creosolium contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creosolium is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creosolium Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

ROSENSTOCK DOESN'T INTEND TO RETIRE

I. Rosenstock, one of Danville's oldest established merchants has no intention of withdrawing from the local merchandizing field in the immediate future, it was learned last night. The fact that the storehouse on Main street which he now occupies has been leased for a period of fifteen years to the Rayless Chain stores of New York should not be construed by any as indicating retirement on his part, he said.

The new lease will not begin until January 1st, 1926, and Mr. Rosenstock intends to remain in possession of the property he now occupies until his tenure on it expires.

The building is owned by K. and Laban Silverman and is considered highly desirable property. They recently reached an agreement with Isaacson Raiff and Adolph Glass, New York under the terms of which the concern will hold the property for five years operating a new branch of their chain of stores there.

CALLANDS NEWS

Callands won first prize on written work, second prize on club work and third prize on general work at the Danville Fair.

Many people from this community attended the Danville Fair this week.

Miss Mary Reynolds was seriously hurt in an automobile wreck last Sunday, but it is hoped she will soon be out again.

Walter Reynolds has returned from the Martinsville hospital and is said to be getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Motter of Danville, spent Sunday with her mother, here.

Mrs. A. L. Arnn spent several days this week in Danville.

JAPANESE SHUING SENSATION

TOYKO, Oct. 17.—Long-standing discontent among the office employees of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha shipping line culminated in the resignations of a large number of the company's office staffs all over the world, including some prominent officials.

Following a written protest against the management demanding the resignation of the president, 11 of the leaders of the movement were dismissed.

Among those who have resigned are the managers at Yokohama, Nagoya, Osaka, Kobe, Moji, Nagasaki, Bombay, Calcutta, London, Seattle and New York, and assistant managers at Hong Kong, Singapore, Liverpool, Hamburg, and Shanghai.

So far the marine staffs and seamen are holding aloof from the quarrel.

SPRING GARDEN

SPRING GARDEN, Oct. 17.—The situation among the farmers is much more promising than it was two weeks ago, due to the fine weather practically all the crops that frost could injure, have been saved.

Spring Garden people have given enthusiastic attendance upon the Danville Fair and seem to have enjoyed it.

Rev. H. B. Hardaway, pastor of Chatham Baptist church, will assist the pastor in a revival meeting at Shoccoe the coming week. The first service will be held next Sunday evening at 7:30. Week-day services will be held at 2:30 P. M. and 7:30 P. M. A cordial invitation is given the public to attend these meetings.

Chestnut Level Baptist church will have regular monthly services Saturday and Sunday (tomorrow and next day) at the usual hours. Saturday at 2:00 P. M. and Sunday at 11:00 A. M.

Teachers and pupils of the High school here availed themselves of the privilege of attending the Danville Fair Wednesday evening.

VIRGINIA:
In the Clerk's Office of the Corporation Court of Danville, on the 17th day of October, 1924.

Orlando O. Bailey, &c. Plaintiffs against
Samuel Bailey & als. Defendants
IN CHANCERY.

The object of this suit is to have sale made and partition of a certain lot of land with improvements thereon situate in Danville, Virginia, and commonly known as 612 Holbrook street, which was conveyed to John Norburn, Trustee for Caroline Bailey, now deceased, and her children and to charge the defendants, Annie Johnson and James Bailey with the rents and profits received by them from said lands and for general relief.

And an affidavit having been made and duly filed that the said defendants, Annie Johnson and James Bailey, are non-residents of the State of Virginia, it is therefore ordered that they do appear here within ten days after due publication of this order once a week for four successive weeks in The Bee, a newspaper published in the City of Danville, Virginia, and do what is necessary to protect their interests in this suit.

ACTORS ENTERTAIN

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 17.—Satisfaction over the progress of the political campaign was expressed today by President Coolidge, who told visitors that L & M Semi-Paste Paint costs $2.82 per gallon and a gallon costs nothing if not satisfactory. 2rb5a4

The president was assured this morning at a breakfast party at the White House with about 40 members of the theatrical profession that he would receive "almost 100 per cent. of the vote of the actors."

The party turned into a fun festival on the White House lawn after the breakfast with Al Jolson and Raymond Hitchcock leading in song and promptly speeches. Mr. Coolidge left for the cabinet meeting with the tunes of a newly composed song, "Keep Coolidge," and some of the actors' presidential jokes ringing in his ears.

Later in the day the president conferred with Charles A. Littlefield, of Lynn, Mass., Republican candidate for the House, on conditions in the shoe and textile industries. Mr. Littlefield who is a guest at the White House, reported conditions in these industries were improving and that a greater improvement could be expected.

Chiropractic For the Appendix

QUESTION—"I have been advised to have an operation for the removal of my appendix; why is it that you do not advise this operation?"

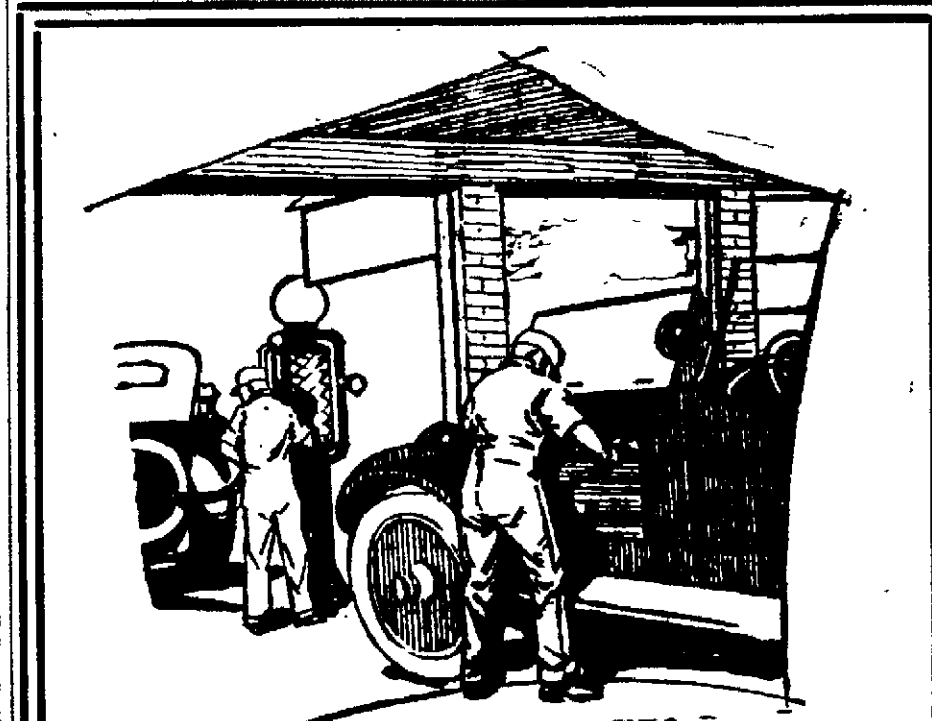

ANSWER—"We believe that surgical operation for the removal of the appendix is an operation for the removal of an EFFECT. In many cases we know that this operation has disclosed the fact that it was needless and useless. We do not believe in treating EFFECTS. We say it is better to correct the CAUSE. Then the effect will disappear. Chiropractic Adjustments prevent operations by eliminating what is causing the appendix to be diseased. The cause of inflammation of the appendix is pressure on spinal nerves leaving the spine in the lumbar region. This pressure is usually caused by a subluxation or misplacement of the second lumbar vertebra. This condition is not difficult to correct, therefore we say it is folly to remove this useful organ. You want to avoid this operation, therefore we advise you to

BRANDEGEE'S DEBTS SHOWN TO BE OVER ONE MILLION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—According to friends of the late Senator Frank B. Brandegee of Connecticut, his liabilities at the time of his death by suicide were in excess of $1,000,000, with the exact amount unlikely ever to become known because of the desire of some holders and indorsers of his paper to escape publicity by pocketing their losses.

The amount of Brandegee paper in the hands of banks, secured by real estate or other collateral, is quite large, but those close to him say the amount held by wealthy friends in and out of public life or indorsed in much larger in some instances exceeding $100,000.

It is also stated by friends of Brandegee that when his troubles became most pressing, his appeals for help to wealthy Connecticut men, who had been the recipients of favors at his hands, met with refusal.

"He was," one of his friends said today, "turned down cold by men who by all rules of the game should have helped."

The Senator's notes are said to be scattered through the House and Senate, with a member of the Lower House and a former senator, now resident in Washington, the largest losers, it was when these felt they could go no farther that his financial situation became critical.

Everyman's Investments

By GEORGE T. HUGHES

Eighty-fourth Article Getting Rid of Liberties

In an address before the Investment Bankers at Cleveland not long ago, a treasury official pointed out what seemed to him to be the objections to advising Liberty bondholders to exchange their bonds for other securities giving a higher yield. He put emphasis upon the unfortunate consequences of breaking up the great mass of investors in government securities, most of them built up during the war.

Now as a matter of fact there are very few reputable investment bankers who suggest the sale of Liberty bonds to their clients. Almost invariably the initiative comes from the other side. It is the individual investor who insists upon a higher return than his government bonds give him and sometimes he can advance good reasons why a large income is essential. The problem that confronts the investment banker then is whether it would not be wiser to suggest some highly conservative securities than to allow the investor unguided to exchange his Liberties for some speculative or even worthless stocks.

The trouble is that unlike the average investor wants to jump from the security of a United States government obligation with its small but sure return to a stock or bond with an abnormally high yield.

It is the individual investor who knows how to explain this trait of human nature, but I have had it illustrated over and over again in my experience with investors.

It is the individual investor who is planning to withdraw money from the savings bank. It is the same when they are planning to withdraw money from the savings bank. With each case no middle ground between 4 and 8 per cent. And yet nothing is more certain than the bank he ought to stop with 5 or 6 per cent. at the most.

It is my opinion that the investment banker is fulfilling his mission when he suggests conservative securities to those who are determined upon disposing of their holdings of Liberty bonds. It is the investor's duty before you sell your Liberty bonds ask yourself the question why it is that someone else is willing to pay what seems to you such a high price for these bonds of all investments.

(Mr. Hughes' eighty-fifth article will appear in The Bee next Monday.)

MORNING STOCK LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon)

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Today's stock session will probably contain little of interest though a continuation of strength is not unlikely. Ralls are reflecting merger possibilities as well as satisfactory earnings. Copper, a better demand at hardening prices, oils, a reduced crude output and the entire market is being stimulated by the growth of confidence in the election outcome. If surface indications count for anything we are entering a period of increasing business and industrial activity. Dun's and Bradstreet's both note expanding trade conditions. With this will come advancing security prices. Because of the present small public interest in the market there will, of course, be occasional weak days. Make use of them to increase your holdings.

MORNING COTTON LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon)

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Cables better than due. Weather fine yesterday with the Gulf storm still stationary in the western Caribbean. Goods market steady. Business moderate. Spots strong in the south and basic remains firm. The big into sight figures were offset by big spinner's takings but with a weak technical position and some hedge selling the market declined $2.50 a bale from the high prices. No big broad speculation was in evidence. With sentiment unanimously bearish and with the fire-weather the past ten days the market will not have a sustained advance and purchases are not recommended on rising prices.

DAESCHNER IS GROOMED TO SUCCEED JULES JUSSERAND

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Oct. 15.—Emile Daeschner, director of administrative affairs at the Quai D'Orsay who is considered in French official circles and among the chancelleries of Paris, the best trained diplomat in the French service, most probably will succeed Jules Jusserand as French ambassador at Washington within a few weeks.

The news is not an official and no appointment has been made. M. Daeschner himself said today it would be good news to him if it proved to be true but that his only information about his reported appointment was gleaned from today's papers.

It was confirmed semi-officially at the foreign office, however, that M. Daeschner has been chosen to succeed the veteran incumbent at Washington. The announcement of this decision, it was added, had been premature because the agreement of the American and other governments to the various diplomatic appointments in view had not yet all been received but it was expected there would be no objections.

M. Daeschner, who comes from a fine old Alsatian family, was for a long time the right hand man in London to the late Paul Cambon, who was called the "Nestor" of French diplomacy.

M. Daeschner was a collaborator and confidential adviser and chief of bureau of the late Maurice Rouvier and of Raymond Poincare when they were premiers, and of Leon Bourgeois, the outstanding French apostle of peace.
